

The Wellness Pro 2010 is extraordinarily valuable and essential in alleviating symptoms and possibly even dealing with whatever the cause may be when addressing the diagnosis of fibromyalgia or chronic pain.

The Wellness Pro has FDA clearance to be marketed similar to a TENS for pain. While TENS helps the Wellness Pro, in my opinion, goes much further than the TENS unit when used for the treatment of chronic pain.

This will allow the patient to treat their own pain and eliminate the need for many office visits for similar treatments thus saving both time and money and quite possibly eliminating the pain completely.

I feel that the Wellness Pro is appropriate and essential when treating refractory pain syndromes.

Sincerely,
